TMD: Diagnosis and Treatment and the Role of the RDH
How many times have you heard a patient’s jaw pop upon opening? Do you ask patients about their history of headaches? Can you recognize abractive wear and then discuss its relevance to occlusion with the patient? Are there children in your practice that you know will end up in orthodontics? Through this course, learn how to work with the dentist to go beyond the normal and help patients reach a rewarding, pain free occlusion.
Speaker: Dr. James J. Meyer
Dr. Meyer maintains a private practice in Greenville, SC, in general and cosmetic dentistry as well as orthodontic and neuromuscular dentistry. He completed the Advanced and Masters programs at the prestigious Las Vegas Institute for Advanced Dental Studies. A graduate of St. Mary’s University and the Loyola University School of Dentistry, Dr. Meyer received his doctorate of Dental Surgery in 1989. He then began a private practice in Chicago, Illinois until relocating to Greenville, SC in 1996.

Lunch and Learn (for RDH and Students combined)
The RDH . . . Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow

Our profession has changed and grown to a new level which offers us continuous challenges to recognize the new advances in skills and technology and their use in our profession. As professionals we must be at the pulse of these changes as they affect us and propel us forward.

Enjoy lunch while learning about the changes and opportunities we have as dental hygienists. Hear how changes allow us to practice in different settings. Let’s explore our future opportunities and possible avenues of employment as changes occur in the legislature. Let’s step out-of-the-box and open up to new thoughts while learning how to express what we want. The presentation will be followed by a question and answer session.

Oral Health Care for Pregnant Women, Infants, and Young Children

This class focuses on the South Carolina Oral Health Care Recommendations for Pregnant Women, Infants, and Children ages 0-3. Oral health is an essential component of the overall health status for pregnant women and women who are planning to become pregnant. During pregnancy, women’s bodies undergo complex physiological changes that can adversely affect their oral health. Current research suggests that some prenatal oral conditions may have adverse consequences for the mother and young child. The presentation will provide recommendations about preventive and restorative care for expectant mothers as well as information on how to promote healthy behaviors that can improve the oral health of mothers, infants, and young children.

Speaker: Dr. Rick McDaniel
Dr. McDaniel received his DMD from the MUSC School of Dental Medicine and his Master’s in Public Health from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He maintains a successful family dental practice in Batesburg-Leesville and also serves as the Dental Consultant to the SCDHEC Division of Oral Health. Dr. McDaniel has been a member of the ADA/SCDA (Central District-Greater Columbia Dental Association) since 1977 and has served as a house delegate. He is also a member of the American Public Health Association. Dr. McDaniel is a past board member of the Carolina Honduras Health Foundation, a non-profit organization that provides free medical and dental care to rural populations in Honduras.

9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m. Periodontal Concepts for the Dental Hygienist

This course identifies and establishes proper dental hygiene protocols for diagnosis, treatment and maintenance of periodontal conditions. It will classify periodontal disease and identify its causes, treatment options, procedures, and techniques as well as continued care and antimicrobials. Dental implant therapy and maintenance also will be covered in detail.

Speaker: Dr. Eric Hamrick
As a periodontist, Dr. Eric Hamrick enjoys providing his patients with the highest level of care and expertise. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Florida Southern University, his Doctor of Dental Medicine from the Medical University of South Carolina, and Certificate in Periodontics from the University of Alabama. A past president of the South Carolina Society of Periodontics and the Greenville Dental Society, Dr. Hamrick recently was appointed to the academic faculty of the Medical University of South Carolina. He has extensive experience in periodontal therapy, cosmetic periodontal surgery, pre-prosthetic surgery, and dental implant therapy.

Dental Caries: Advances in Detection and Disease Management

Dental caries is a chronic infectious disease affecting children and adults. This course will address trends in caries epidemiology, describe new diagnostic technologies, and discuss minimally invasive approaches to managing this disease. With earlier detection, the clinician will be able to redirect management from a restorative (surgical) approach to a medical (preventive) approach.

Speaker: Renee C. Graham, RDH, Med.

Ms. Graham received a dental hygiene degree from Darton College and a Bachelor of Science in Education and a Master of Education degree from Valdosta State University. She brings 19 years of clinical experience in general and periodontal practice and has 11 years of academic experience. For the past 10 years, she has held the position of Director of Dental Programs at Valdosta Technical College in Valdosta, GA. Ms. Graham has served as a site visitor for the Commission on Dental Accreditation since 2003 and has been very active with regional testing agencies, the Georgia Dental Hygiene Educators Association, and dental hygiene and assisting curriculum development for the State of Georgia.
